Armed Robber Hits Short Stop Market

Circleville Police reported today that an armed robber struck an east side business at approximately 6:41 p.m. Friday evening.

According to the report, a white male entered the Short Stop Carry-Out and approached the counter. He produced a small caliber pistol and ordered store employees to put all the money from the cash registers into a paper sack.

After he had the money, he left the store and headed east on foot. Circleville Police and Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies combed the east end of the city, but the search failed to reveal any trace of the robber. The report states that the thief got away with approximately $1150 in cash and checks.

Funds Cut For Some Colleges

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A group of two-year colleges, universities and technical institutes will receive reductions in state subsidy levels, under an adjustment of funding levels approved Friday by the Ohio Board of Regents.

The regents voted to initiate the cuts in subsidies according to a formula which takes into account fluctuating enrollments. The adjustments reflect a decrease in an institution's state subsidy if enrollments go down and an increase if enrollments go up.

Ohio State University's allocation, for example, was decreased by $344,839. Ohio State's original legislative appropriation for 1976-1977 was $107.9 million.

About 300 fewer graduate students enrolled at Ohio State this year than the number on which the original appropriation was based.

Other institutions affected by the adjustment in subsidy levels, with their decreases and original legislative allocations are: Wright State University, $366,599 decrease, original appropriation of $16.7 million; Central State, $185,090 decrease, original appropriation $2.6 million; Lima, $42,338 decrease, original appropriation $828,200; Middletown, $40,373 decrease, original appropriation $1.1 million; Tuscarawas, $35,051 decrease, original appropriation $772,060; Belmont, $10,899 decrease, original appropriation $354,060; and Columbiana, $47,140 decrease, original appropriation $1.1 million.

Andrus To Be Interior Chief

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — President-elect Carter has chosen Gov. Cecil Andrus of Idaho to be his secretary of the interior — the fourth cabinet member he has picked since he began announcing his choices Dec. 3.

Carter convened his third nationally broadcast news conference in five days to formally disclose the selection.

The choice of Andrus, who is chairman of the National Governors Conference, was hardly a surprise. When he arrived in Plains Friday afternoon he told reporters it was "pretty obvious" he was interested in the interior post.

And Carter Press Secretary Jody Powell took the governor to dinner Friday night at a restaurant in neighboring Americus frequented by the press corps, where Andrus accepted congratulations and said he would see reporters in the morning.

Carter had a busy schedule arranged for after the news conference. He set up meetings with:

—Former Defense Secretary James Schlesinger, who may be in line to head a new department of energy and natural resources that would grow out of a planned amalgamation of the

Benefit Show Helps Out Hurt Stripper

NEW YORK (AP) — It was one of those on-the-job injuries: Stripper Patti Wayne was performing a headstand in the nude when an overzealous patron leaped on stage and pushed her over.

But friends rallied round. Early today an assortment of comics, singers and dancers performed free at a Greenwich Village nightclub to raise money for Miss Wayne, sometimes billed as the "Playgirl of Wall Street."

About 300 persons attended the fundraiser at Copperfield's, but not Miss Wayne — she was flat on her back, recovering at the home she shares with seven dogs here.

She said she was in the middle of her act at a Philadelphia club a month ago "when one of the guys got frisky and jumped up on the stage and knocked me down."

Uncertain if she'll ever be able to perform again, Miss Wayne said she is suffering great pain from a wrenched back and neck.

"I haven't been able to work for a month, and money has been a terrible problem. I think it's the nicest thing anyone has ever done for me," she said of the benefit.

The party began warming up late Friday night with preliminary acts. One of the first performers was a singer named Pam, and the reaction to her made it clear that most of those in attendance had come to see the dancers.

Pam belted out a few tunes, then told the crowd, "It's a little warm in here. I'm going to take my coat off." Most of the customers, who paid $5 each, answered back with whoops and cheers.

Pam, apparently indignant, held her velvet jacket to her chest and screamed back, "I'm not a stripper."

Saudis Praised For Oil Prices

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
President Ford, President-elect Carter and other U.S. officials are pleased that Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates raised their oil prices only 5 per cent while other members of the international oil cartel opted for higher increases.

Gasoline is expected to cost about a penny a gallon more in the United States starting in February because of the increases, and airlines will ask permission to increase fares.

But the Saudi oil minister, Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani, warned the United States and other Western countries Friday not to be "too happy" over the break in the previously solid price front of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

"We hope we will get together again, and this will be in the near future," Yamani said at the conclusion of the OPEC price meeting in Doha, Qatar. "OPEC continues strong."

He also said Saudi Arabia expects to win political leverage for its restraint on oil prices and willingness to expand production to meet demand. He said the West's "appreciation" should be shown in its efforts to settle the Arab-Israeli conflict and help the Third World.

Saudi Arabia, OPEC's biggest producer, and the UAE broke ranks with the rest of the cartel Friday and declared a 5 per cent price hike on crude oil, to be maintained through 1977. The 11 other OPEC member nations decided on a two-step increase of 15 per cent — 10 per cent Jan. 1 and 5 per cent July 1.

In Washington, President Ford said the two OPEC mavericks displayed a "sense of international responsibility and concern," while the other OPEC nations "ignored the destructive consequences of their actions... which can only be termed irresponsible."

Carter, who continues to seek at least one woman for his cabinet, also met Friday with Joan Manley, vice president in charge of the book division of Time, Inc., and Juanita Kreps, an economist and vice president of Duke University.

Mrs. Kreps has been mentioned as a potential secretary of labor or commerce and has met with Carter here twice this month.

Mrs. Manley entered and left Carter's guarded compound with Vice President-elect Mondale and Lane Kirkland, secretary-treasurer of the AFL-CIO. She and Kirkland came and left without talking to reporters.

Another cabinet post that remains unfilled, although it was high on Carter's priority list for a decision, is that of secretary of defense. The AFL-CIO opposes Harold Brown, a high Pentagon official in the Johnson administration, although Brown reportedly has been the President-elect's top candidate.

Powell said that at his meeting with Carter, which ran twice as long as scheduled, "there were no objections raised by Mr. Kirkland to any specific individuals."

Man Adopts His Lover As Daughter

WESTERLY, R.I. (AP) — They didn't want to get married, but they wanted to live together respectably. So Joseph Comoli 3rd, 33, adopted Elaine Tattersall, 32, as his daughter.

"The daughter can use the name of the father," said their lawyer, Aram K. Berberian. "People will believe they are married because they use the same name. They obtain respectability in the eyes of their peers."

According to town records, Miss Tattersall's parents are still alive. A spokeswoman at the town clerk's office confirmed that the adoption had taken place, and said it was legal because Miss Tattersall "is of age and can be adopted by whomever she chooses."

She added, "Isn't it their own business what they do? I don't understand why newspapers are so interested in this."

Calls to the couple's home were not answered.

"The major factor is here we have two people 'living in sin,'" said Berberian. "To legitimize the cohabitation, they became related."

Berberian said he used the tactic himself three years ago and later married the woman he adopted as his "daughter." He said the arrangement can offer benefits other than respectability.

For example, he said, in the event of a breakup, "The daughter can never force the father to pay alimony." And the "father" gets an added tax deduction if he pays more than half the cost of supporting the "daughter," Berberian said.

Future Of Swine Flu Vaccinations Becomes Bleak

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top federal health official says swine flu vaccinations will resume when "we are sure there is no risk," but many state officials say that barring an epidemic, few people will volunteer to take them.

Officials from New York, Ohio and other states said Friday that even a clean bill of health for the swine flu vaccine could not restore enough public confidence to salvage the program, which was suspended Thursday nationwide.

The state officials also said it might be too late in the flu season to resume the program after completion of a thorough investigation to determine whether the vaccine caused Guillain-Barre Syndrome, a paralytic disease also known as French polio.

No connection has been established between the shots and the disease. Asst. Health Secretary Dr. Theodore Cooper of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, testified before the Senate health subcommittee headed by Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., in favor of eventually resuming the vaccinations.

Should there be an outbreak of the flu, he added, the risks from it would almost certainly be greater than any risk from the vaccine.

Weather

Sunny today with temperatures in the middle to upper 40s. Clear tonight and not as cold with a low in the middle 30s. Mostly sunny and warmer Sunday with a high in the low to middle 50s. Chances of precipitation, near zero per cent today and 10 per cent tonight and Sunday. Friday's high was 44 with a low during the night of 19.

County ASCS Committee Convention Set Monday

The newly elected Community ASC Committees will meet 9 a.m. Monday, to elect a County Committeeman for a 3-year term.

This election, known as the ASCS County Convention is held annually to elect a committeeman and to determine who will serve as the chairman and vice-chairman of the committee for the coming year.

The present County Committee is: Roy Dunkle, chairman; Thomas McFadden, vice chairman; Carl Anderson.

Roy Dunkle has served on the committee three years. His term will expire on Dec. 31, 1976. If re-elected he could serve three consecutive three year terms. Dunkle and sons Brad and Greg farm extensively in both Pickaway and Ross Counties.

Thomas (Tim) McFadden lives in Perry Twp. He and sons Larry and Bruce farm in Pickaway, Fayette and Ross County. Mr. McFadden has served on the committee 2 years.

Carl Anderson, a Saltcreek Twp. farmer has served four years as a county committeeman.

The County Committee is responsible for the operation of the Pickaway County ASCS office. Walt Spangler, the county executive director is employed by the committee to manage the office.

The Committee meets bi-weekly to consider farmer requests and conduct the business of the office.

Pay More Attention To Crop Residues

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

In the past 10 or 15 years, there has been an accelerating trend to systems of crop production which require no tillage or at least significantly less tillage than used by previous generations of farmers. Such systems of no-till or reduced tillage include the planting of crop seed in sod or residue from the previous crop and this has caused producers and scientists to take a closer look at the importance and handling of crop residue.

Two midwestern agronomists — one from Ohio, one from Indiana — have been reviewing previous work and conducting their own research on crop residues and surface mulch. Dr. G. B. Triplett of the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, Wooster, and Dr. J. V. Mannering, Purdue University, report that contemporary tillage systems have added a whole new dimension to crop production — that of crop residue management which they emphasize must be tailored to the field where the crop is to be grown. Triplett summarized the agronomists' conclusions during the combined annual meetings of three scientific societies, held recently in Houston, Texas.

In past decades, farmers relied on the moldboard plow for tillage in order to achieve suitable control of weeds. When fields were plowed for planting, crop residue and surface trash was turned under, adding valuable organic matter. Residue thus played an important role in fertility. The need for relying on such organic matter for nitrogen lessened after World War II with the development of an abundant and economic source of fertilizer nitrogen.

In the past two decades, modern herbicides for weed control and equipment for planting without plowing have brought significant changes in crop production — especially for corn and soybeans. Triplett points out that as no-tillage systems developed, research workers discovered that the soil surface must be covered with mulch on some soils for top crop yields. But on other soils, no-tillage with a mulch can mean sharply lower yields.

The Ohio agronomist says mulch cover from plant residues left on the soil surface lessens the erosion hazard, lowers soil temperature, and increases the retention of moisture. The erosion protection is always important, but the impact of moisture and temperature offers mixed blessings.

Triplett emphasizes that in some fields, mulch could be undesirable for crops which need to be planted in early spring when temperatures are normally cool and excessive moisture is a problem. On the other hand, mulch could be beneficial on the same site for crops planted later in the season when the evaporation rate is high.

If the crop residue has value for some other purpose, such as animal feed, it can be removed and productivity maintained by moldboard plowing. Soil losses from erosion are important in assessing long-term effects of removing mulch cover.

Some crops produce less residue than others. The quality and persistence of crop residue as a mulch differs. Thus, the need to return crop residues to the soil and the placement of the residues, whether on the soil surface or incorporated, are influenced by the soil characteristics (including drainage), the crop, the climate, the time of year, and the tillage system used.

On better trained soils where reduced tillage systems work best, yields have been up under continuous corn production. The two agronomists feel that the places where mulch is needed, crops grown in a rotation should be considered not only for current economic return, but also for production of sufficient residue for the following crop.

Since mulch cover reduces soil erosion to negligible levels, Triplett and Mannering see the most important long term value of tillage that keeps the soil surface covered with mulch as expanding land use possibilities by permitting sustained production of grain crops on sloping land without unacceptable soil losses.

Triplett's summary was presented during the combined annual meeting of the American Society of Agronomy, Crop Science Society of America, and Soil Science Society of America. The three scientific, educational organizations have more than 8,500 members from the U.S. and more than 90 other nations. The theme of the combined conferences was "Agronomists and Food" Contributions and Challenges."

News For Homemakers

Homemakers continually tell me they want to know about new products on the market. One we learned about from Judy Wessel, Extension Equipment Specialist, is a drastic change from bathtubs on the market for almost a century.

The Cosieff Corporation of Jonesville, South Carolina, is manufacturing soft bathtubs. The product called "cushion form baths," is made of a fiberglass tub covered with a one-half inch thick layer of closed cell foam and a vinyl skin. Four models are being produced which range in price from $427 to $1,250. A standard-sized cast iron bathtub costs from $125 to $170. The soft tub is deeper than conventional tubs and the drain is recessed at the rear of the tub. There are several ways to install the tub above the floor, partially sunken or fully sunken.

The tub carries a ten year guarantee by the company. The manufacturers admit that the lining is vulnerable to sharp objects. The product is said to be safer than conventional tubs because it is "slip-resistant." (Government statistics indicate that each year 275,000 persons are injured and 900 die due to bath-related accidents.)

The company has been developing the soft bathtub for two years. The bathtub's market exists in homes, hospitals and nursing homes where a person's safety and comfort are important concerns.

The Farm Woman Today: According to U.S. census reports in 1970, 27 per cent of all women live in rural areas (everyone in our county is considered "rural" since we have under 50,000 people). About 4 per cent of women live in farms. These women have historically, without clamor and bloomer protests, shared equally in farm work, business and family life. There are 62,000 women who list their jobs as "farmer" and another 141,000 are farm laborers and supervisors. The number of women in agricultural occupations of all types was 13.5 per cent in 1974. Yet women do not receive "equal pay for equal work." The median earnings of year-round, full-time women workers in agriculture was $2,503 as compared to $5,619 for men. There are over 30,000 women farm managers now.

Rural women who work for wages outside the home are a growing force as more and more enter the labor market. Rural women who work are most likely to be 20-24 years of age or between 40-55, which means that many leave the labor force during the child-bearing and child-rearing years. Generally speaking, about 2-3 of rural women participate in the labor force on a full-time basis, and although the wages they receive are not high, they work out of financial necessity.

Attitudes about farm wives are changing. In a 1976 International Harvester's nationwide poll of 1,000 farm households, 82 per cent of those polled felt that the amount of involvement of women in the operation and management of the farms has increased over a decade ago, and 68 per cent believe that the active role of women in the business side of farming is necessary for the farm's success.

Those facts show what rural women have known all along — that without their vital work in and outside the home, our rural life would come to a standstill. Too often, the contribution of women is not recognized or not considered as important as that of the men. Financially, women are not rewarded on an equal basis with men, and work in the home and child care is not even classified as work by government agencies. Women are partners in progress, and we should point with pride to our rich tradition and important place in our society.

Rural Vandalism Just A Game?

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

Blowing up mail boxes, driving through corn fields, cutting fences, and defacing buildings are merely games or at worst harmless pranks to many rural Ohio high school students who admitted committing one or more acts of vandalism.

G. Howard Phillips, rural sociologist for the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, and Kaye F. Bartlett, area agent for the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service, say a survey questionnaire on vandalism was given to 599 tenth graders (mostly 15 and 16 years old) at three typical rural high schools. The questionnaire included an introduction to the term "vandalism" and assurances of confidentiality.

If students admitted they had ever vandalized property (and more than half of them did), they answered a number of questions including those related to motive, whether they acted alone or with others, and whether alcohol was involved. They also described their family background.

Phillips says, of those reporting, 68 per cent of the boys and 37 per cent of the girls were involved in vandalism. The relatively high number of females involved suggests more freedom of behavior and activity among high school girls than in the past. Overall, 52 per cent of those surveyed admitted to being vandals at least once.

The survey shows that vandalism is largely a group function. More than 9 acts out of 10 were carried out by persons in groups. Only 7 per cent of the destructive acts were committed by one person.

Perhaps the most important dimension of vandalism is the motive. Nearly 60 per cent of the student respondents admitting to mischief suggested they did it simply for fun. About 12 per cent noted they did damage to another's property to get even. The researchers say such vindictive vandalism is much safer than personal assault—being caught is unlikely. Property destroyed in the process of committing another crime (usually theft) was cited by only 7.3 per cent of the admitted vandals.

Of the 295 who admitted being involved in vandalism, 114 noted that one or more group members were consuming some type of alcoholic beverage at the time of the act. Half were consuming beer. Most of the others were using wine or whiskey. Drugs were not widely used at the time the vandals were active, but 11 reported smoking marijuana during their escapades.

Bartlett says 10 per cent of the students lived in a one-parent household. In these households where the parents were divorced, separated, or widowed, the percentage of students involved in vandalism was 20 per cent

Management Key To Corn Drying, Storage

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Automation is not a substitute for management. Management is the "hair spring" that makes corn drying and storage systems "tick." Management is making those decisions that establish operating requirements of the system, says William R. Schnug, Extension Agricultural Engineer at The Ohio State University. It decides the range of moisture removal, short term or long term drying period, complete operation in dryer or combination with bin cooling and/or drieration, and how much quality to preserve.

Management also includes establishment of control indexes and adjustment of system sensors and controls to produce the desired system performance.

The more important management needs in operating the drying system include checking — the moisture content of grain into and out of the dryer; exhaust air temperature and grain-air equilibrium temperature on column-type dryers; bin dryers for wall condensation, uniformity of drying, operation of stirring devices, etc.; on fuel supply (shortage of LP fuel in some areas); control mechanism to see they are free and working properly (automation depends on functioning controls); the handling system component; and to avoid interrupted operation, to lower electrical demand and energy costs.

Management does not stop once corn is dried and transferred into storage, Schnug says. Stored grain needs the same wise and timely management given to harvesting and drying. Aeration of stored grain is a vital factor in quality preservation. Thus, management follows through to market and/or feeding.

The beef projects in Pickaway County are constantly growing. Last year over 200 beef animals were shown at the fair.

To carry a steer project, the member must be 12 or in the sixth grade by January 1, 1977. They must get a steer enrollment card either from their advisor or the Extension Office and return it to the Extension Office by January 1.

The calf should weigh about 500-600 pounds by January 1 and be of good quality. This doesn't mean you need to go out and buy the very best steer possible. Look for a steer which has a good muscle and bone structure and one that has been a fast gainer from birth. The member who will spend approximately 40 cents per pound for a steer and get one that will gain fast and look good in the show ring will come out ahead in the long run.

The rate of gain contest is held each year to determine which steer in the county gains the most weight per day. The steers must be brought this year to Producers Livestock for their weigh-in on January 8, between 8:30 a.m. and noon. They will be weighed and tagged. When they are weighed again at the fair the weight they gained will be divided by the number of days on feed to determine the winner.

Triplett emphasizes that in some fields, mulch could be undesirable for crops which need to be planted in early spring when temperatures are normally cool and excessive moisture is a problem. On the other hand, mulch could be beneficial on the same site for crops planted later in the season when the evaporation rate is high.

If the crop residue has value for some other purpose, such as animal feed, it can be removed and productivity maintained by moldboard plowing. Soil losses from erosion are important in assessing long-term effects of removing mulch cover.

Some crops produce less residue than others. The quality and persistence of crop residue as a mulch differs. Thus, the need to return crop residues to the soil and the placement of the residues, whether on the soil surface or incorporated, are influenced by the soil characteristics (including drainage), the crop, the climate, the time of year, and the tillage system used.

On better trained soils where reduced tillage systems work best, yields have been up under continuous corn production. The two agronomists feel that the places where mulch is needed, crops grown in a rotation should be considered not only for current economic return, but also for production of sufficient residue for the following crop.

Since mulch cover reduces soil erosion to negligible levels, Triplett and Mannering see the most important long term value of tillage that keeps the soil surface covered with mulch as expanding land use possibilities by permitting sustained production of grain crops on sloping land without unacceptable soil losses.

Triplett's summary was presented during the combined annual meeting of the American Society of Agronomy, Crop Science Society of America, and Soil Science Society of America. The three scientific, educational organizations have more than 8,500 members from the U.S. and more than 90 other nations. The theme of the combined conferences was "Agronomists and Food" Contributions and Challenges."

Rural Vandalism Just A Game?

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

Blowing up mail boxes, driving through corn fields, cutting fences, and defacing buildings are merely games or at worst harmless pranks to many rural Ohio high school students who admitted committing one or more acts of vandalism.

G. Howard Phillips, rural sociologist for the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, and Kaye F. Bartlett, area agent for the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service, say a survey questionnaire on vandalism was given to 599 tenth graders (mostly 15 and 16 years old) at three typical rural high schools. The questionnaire included an introduction to the term "vandalism" and assurances of confidentiality.

If students admitted they had ever vandalized property (and more than half of them did), they answered a number of questions including those related to motive, whether they acted alone or with others, and whether alcohol was involved. They also described their family background.

Phillips says, of those reporting, 68 per cent of the boys and 37 per cent of the girls were involved in vandalism. The relatively high number of females involved suggests more freedom of behavior and activity among high school girls than in the past. Overall, 52 per cent of those surveyed admitted to being vandals at least once.

The survey shows that vandalism is largely a group function. More than 9 acts out of 10 were carried out by persons in groups. Only 7 per cent of the destructive acts were committed by one person.

Perhaps the most important dimension of vandalism is the motive. Nearly 60 per cent of the student respondents admitting to mischief suggested they did it simply for fun. About 12 per cent noted they did damage to another's property to get even. The researchers say such vindictive vandalism is much safer than personal assault—being caught is unlikely. Property destroyed in the process of committing another crime (usually theft) was cited by only 7.3 per cent of the admitted vandals.

Of the 295 who admitted being involved in vandalism, 114 noted that one or more group members were consuming some type of alcoholic beverage at the time of the act. Half were consuming beer. Most of the others were using wine or whiskey. Drugs were not widely used at the time the vandals were active, but 11 reported smoking marijuana during their escapades.

Bartlett says 10 per cent of the students lived in a one-parent household. In these households where the parents were divorced, separated, or widowed, the percentage of students involved in vandalism was 20 per cent

Management Key To Corn Drying, Storage

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Automation is not a substitute for management. Management is the "hair spring" that makes corn drying and storage systems "tick." Management is making those decisions that establish operating requirements of the system, says William R. Schnug, Extension Agricultural Engineer at The Ohio State University. It decides the range of moisture removal, short term or long term drying period, complete operation in dryer or combination with bin cooling and/or drieration, and how much quality to preserve.

Management also includes establishment of control indexes and adjustment of system sensors and controls to produce the desired system performance.

The more important management needs in operating the drying system include checking - the moisture content of grain into and out of the dryer; exhaust air temperature and grain-air equilibrium temperature on column-type dryers; bin dryers for wall condensation, uniformity of drying, operation of stirring devices, etc.; on fuel supply (shortage of LP fuel in some areas); control mechanism to see they are free and working properly (automation depends on functioning controls); the handling system component; and to avoid interrupted operation, to lower electrical demand and energy costs.

Management does not stop once corn is dried and transferred into storage, Schnug says. Stored grain needs the same wise and timely management given to harvesting and drying. Aeration of stored grain is a vital factor in quality preservation. Thus, management follows through to market and/or feeding.

The beef projects in Pickaway County are constantly growing. Last year over 200 beef animals were shown at the fair.

To carry a steer project, the member must be 12 or in the sixth grade by January 1, 1977. They must get a steer enrollment card either from their advisor or the Extension Office and return it to the Extension Office by January 1.

The calf should weigh about 500-600 pounds by January 1 and be of good quality. This doesn't mean you need to go out and buy the very best steer possible. Look for a steer which has a good muscle and bone structure and one that has been a fast gainer from birth. The member who will spend approximately 40 cents per pound for a steer and get one that will gain fast and look good in the show ring will come out ahead in the long run.

The rate of gain contest is held each year to determine which steer in the county gains the most weight per day. The steers must be brought this year to Producers Livestock for their weigh-in on January 8, between 8:30 a.m. and noon. They will be weighed and tagged. When they are weighed again at the fair the weight they gained will be divided by the number of days on feed to determine the winner.

Santa and the Giant Fighter

By Lucrece Beale

Synopsis: Billy drops the ghost tears in the soup and the giants turn into pigs. The magic potion will not work on Goko, so Billy places the ruby necklace where the giant will find it.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN THE FIGHT

Goko looked at himself in the mirror over the fireplace. He reached up to fasten the ruby necklace around his throat. The fire of the ruby was reflected in the mirror. The giant was bedazzled.

He dropped his hands. "It is fit for a king," he grunted. "I shall not wear it until day after tomorrow when I marry the Fairy Queen. Then I will be a king and this stone will dazzle all who see me."

"In the meantime I shall wear the ruby as a ring for it fits my finger as well as my neck."

Billy's heart sank. He crouched behind the chair and wondered what would happen if the giant did not wear the necklace around his throat as he was supposed to do. Would its magic still work?

Goko slipped the ruby on his finger. Instantly he began to jump up and down and howl with pain. He threw his arms around trying to shake off the ring. He tore at it with his free hand and chewed at it with his teeth. The ring squeezed tighter.

The giant screamed and kicked savagely at the furniture. His boot struck the chair where Billy was hiding. The chair tumbled away and there was Billy crouched on his heels.

The giant stared in astonishment. He forgot the pain in his finger. "Who are you? Where did you come from?" he roared.

Billy got to his feet and pulled out his wooden sword. "I am Billy the Giant Fighter," he said. He hoped the giant wouldn't

"Do you think you can destroy Goko with a toy sword?"

notice the tremor in his voice.

Goko blinked. He thought of his giants who had let the boy slip in. He shouted furiously. "Guards! Guards!"

"No use calling," said Billy. "Your guards have turned into pigs. No one can help you now!"

Then he lunged at the giant with his sword. He struck Goko on the breast but though the aim was true and the blow well struck the giant was unharmed. Against such a mammoth the wooden sword was as useless as the feather of a goose.

When the giant saw this he threw back his head and shouted, "You think you can destroy Goko the Great with a toy sword? We shall see!"

He snatched up his club and slammed it down on his finger. The ruby stoned ring burst apart and his finger was free.

"Now where will your magic get you?" snarled the giant and he struck out at the boy. Billy ducked under the swinging club and fled from the room. He raced through the corridors and climbed the winding stairs. He could hear Goko stamping after him laughing and thumping his club.

He came to a door at the top of the topmost stair. Gasping with terror he burst into the room and there he found the Fairy Queen.

"You've come!" she cried. "Oh, you've come at last!"

Billy threw himself in her arms. "It's no use," he sobbed. "My sword was just a toy and I'm not a giant fighter at all." "Let me have your sword," said the Queen gently.

He gave it to her and she pressed it softly to her lips.

"There," she said, giving it back. "It's not a toy anymore."

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Woman Barely Does Housework

DEAR ABBY: I and several friends have hit upon an idea for losing weight, as far out as it may seem. We pull our shades down, lock the doors and then clean house in the NUDE.

We noticed overweight women do NOT tend to look at themselves in mirrors as much as more slender women. Well, in cleaning house (which is itself exercise) we force ourselves to look at our bodies. Our only rule is, try to keep the stomach muscles pulled in while cleaning. It's hard at first. But actually seeing the muscles tightened helps one to keep them taut after the body is clothed.

Most of us have mirrors in every room. As we go from room to room cleaning, we can't help but come face to face with ourselves. This may sound crazy, but I promise it works if done in earnest.

"AUSTIN"

DEAR "AUSTIN": Now, in addition, if you could arrange to watch yourself EAT, you might have it made. (P.S. And should you decide to COOK in the nude, do wear an apron while frying bacon.)

DEAR ABBY: My problem may seem small to some, but to me it's very important. My husband and I have been married over 30 years, during which time he has been a good husband and provider. He has only one fault, which really irritates me. He surely must take vitamin "I," because that's his favorite word.

When he talks about a trip we took together, he says, "When I went to Yosemite," or he'll say "I have a grandson," or "I own some land." He talks as though he doesn't have a wife. I may as well be dead. It makes me feel so small and insignificant. It's terribly humiliating.

Is it wrong to feel hurt about this? Don't suggest that I talk to my husband. I have, and it done no good.

HURT

DEAR HURT: Your husband's overdose of vitamin "I" has probably become addictive by now, but if he's a good man, he'll make a conscious effort to avoid hurting you. Remind him that vitamin "WE" is good for marriage, and ask him to leave vitamin "I" on the shelf for a while.

DEAR ABBY: I hate to hurt people's feelings, especially nice ones. But this 55-year-old man who is very nice, very kind and very successful, keeps asking me out. I'm only 18, but I can subtract his 37 years older than me!

Fifty-five is not over the hill, but then again, it's a little more than adolescence. How, Abby, do I make him understand without making him feel rejected? I'd like to be friends, but as a lover, I just can't handle the idea! Remember, Abby, he is the kind of man you don't want to hurt.

ROBBED FROM THE CRADLE
DEAR ROBBED: Don't tell him he's too "Old for you-tell him your too "young" for him. Or tell him that he reminds you of your father. And if that doesn't work, make it your grandfather.

DEAR ABBY: My problem may seem small to some, but to me it's very important. My husband and I have been married over 30 years, during which time he has been a good husband and provider. He has only one fault, which really irritates me. He surely must take vitamin "I," because that's his favorite word.

When he talks about a trip we took together, he says, "When I went to Yosemite," or he'll say "I have a grandson," or "I own some land." He talks as though he doesn't have a wife. I may as well be dead. It makes me feel so small and insignificant. It's terribly humiliating.

Is it wrong to feel hurt about this? Don't suggest that I talk to my husband. I have, and it done no good.

HURT

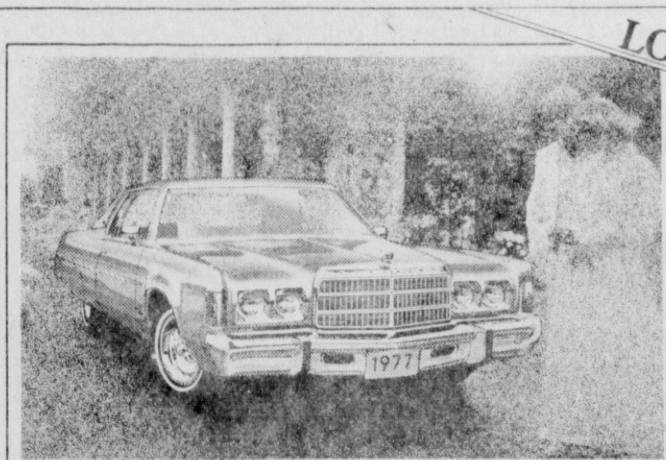

DEAR HURT: Your husband's overdose of vitamin "I" has probably become addictive by now, but if he's a good man, he'll make a conscious effort to avoid hurting you. Remind him that vitamin "WE" is good for marriage, and ask him to leave vitamin "I" on the shelf for a while.

DEAR ABBY: I hate to hurt people's feelings, especially nice ones. But this 55-year-old man who is very nice, very kind and very successful, keeps asking me out. I'm only 18, but I can subtract his 37 years older than me!

Fifty-five is not over the hill, but then again, it's a little more than adolescence. How, Abby, do I make him understand without making him feel rejected? I'd like to be friends, but as a lover, I just can't handle the idea! Remember, Abby, he is the kind of man you don't want to hurt.

ROBBED FROM THE CRADLE
DEAR ROBBED: Don't tell him he's too "Old for you-tell him your too "young" for him. Or tell him that he reminds you of your father. And if that doesn't work, make it your grandfather.

Last Chance To Save Alaska

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK — It has been 25 years since I visited Alaska, but one never forgets . . .

It is July, the height of the mid-night-golf season. I tee off at 9:30 p.m., my ball soaring six feet toward clouds hanging over blue and white-striped mountains beginning to take on a rosy glow. At 10, I am five-putting the second hole, distracted by a brilliant pink sky below clouds that seem to be burning on their undersides - on top, they are whipped cream - inverted strawberry meringues. By 10:30 the sun is dipped below now purple mountains, but its memory lingers in a sky turned suddenly orange. At 11, I slice into a lake turned copper color by the reflection of the sun which has dropped behind navy blue mountains.

"The sun is snoozing," says my sourdough golfing partner, moving back toward the clubhouse. "We have a drink now." On the clubhouse porch, for the patriots battling for freedom. But Washington mustered his ragged soldiers, took them across the ice-filled Delaware in open boats, surprised and captured the Hessian garrison in Trenton without losing a man. It was the turning point in the war, which led to victory and a free America.

at midnight, it is still light enough to read a menu, but not light enough to recover lost balls. The air is cool, 49 degrees (it was 73 when we teed off), and hazy. Like early twilight in the rest of America. At 1 a.m., the sun rises again above the mountains, repeating the same color process backwards, with the paleness gradually becoming vivid, the gray clouds fluffing back to white. The mountains become giants again, sky and water find their lost blue.

The game concludes in brilliant warm sunlight at 4 a.m. The only forgettable part of the fantastic night in this fabulous land is the score.

Alaska is glorious, and it is tough and awesome. If there were such a thing as the seven wonders of the American continent, they could well all be found in that one state.

"But people in the 'lower 48' don't realize what's at stake right now in Alaska," according to Robert Belous, who lives there. "All they hear about is the pipeline.

"Right now we're working up to a big battle over what to do with millions of acres of Alaska - preserve it in the form of national park land, as an awesome work of nature for generations of Americans to visit, or let it fall into the hands of industrialists, businessmen and others who'd like to move ahead with maximum development of its natural resources.

"The decision is in the hands of Congress. Whatever Congress decides will be historic."

At issue are 32.3 million acres of Federal land - the property of the American people. Environmentalists and the National Park Service, for whom Belous is a park planner, have proposed that they be set aside in nine new national parks. They see it as America's last chance to save, for the people, some of the unspoiled wilderness and wildlife it supports.

Opposed are powerful businessmen seeking the petroleum, minerals and timber. Great fortunes can once again be carved from that Alaskan earth, if Congress so decides.

Belous, ecologist as well as planner, points out that "in Alaska, we are facing the ultimate destiny. Looking at what we've done to the living environment in the lower 48 states, we realize that this is it. Our backs are hard against the Arctic ice pack. If we don't save some land for this and future generations to visit as a respite against the crush of modern society, there'll be no place else to go."

The proposed system of parkland is unique. The 32.2 million proposed acres (representing a huge expanse - double the amount of land in all our present park system - yet only nine per cent of Alaska's land mass) is divided into nine areas. Each chosen for its singular quality. There are thundering cascades; immense tundra valleys where caribou and wolf play out their entwined destinies; three major mountain ranges; sand dunes where summer temperatures reach 100 degrees - these above the Arctic circle; lonely beaches from which one can see the mist-shrouded coastline of Siberia.

There are modern Del-awares to be crossed. Fear and misgivings must be replaced by confidence and determination. Negativism and apathy must be dispelled. A greater appreciation of the freedoms and responsibilities - particularly the latter - which have sustained the nation well for two centuries needs emphasis.

Belous points out that in 1872, when a few visionaries persuaded Congress to set aside its first national park, Yellowstone, there were many who said it was so remote that nobody would ever visit it.

Now, opponents of the Alaska park system are trying to say that those parks would be too remote. "I don't think that's a problem," smiles Belous. "Wherever there's a National Park, people go. The problem is not how to get people there, but how to protect the environment from the impact - how to keep the ground from buckling. And Alaska is not as far away from the population centers in the 1970s as Yellowstone was in 1872 . . . you could get knocked off by Indians on your way to our first National Park."

Congress has had the Alaska park proposal since January, 1974. It is committed to act on it by 1978. The quiet struggle between environmentalists and industrialists is on.

Alaska's congressional delegation is opposed to the National Parks plan, preferring economic development to beauty-in-perpetuity. And rarely are park projects approved by Congress when the Congressmen from the state in question are opposed.

"So it could be quite a battle," says Belous, who is trying to spread the message that this is America's last chance to preserve the last wilderness it has.

Anyone who wants to see the beauty of a great state, or play midnight-golf, is reminded that your Congressman is only a 13-cent stamp away.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, Dec. 18, the 353rd day of 1976. There are 13 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1865, the 13th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution was adopted, abolishing slavery.

On this date -

In 1915, President Woodrow Wilson married a widow, Edith Bolling Galt, at the bride's Washington home.

In 1961, Indian troops invaded Goa and two other Portuguese enclaves on India's west coast.

In 1970, a law permitting divorce went into effect in Italy despite opposition from the Roman Catholic Church.

Ten years ago: Christmas eve masses that had been planned for Allied servicemen in South Vietnam were called off because of fear of terrorists.

Five years ago: A change of government appeared in the cards for Pakistan in the wake of defeat in a war with India.

One year ago: In Paris, the United States, Israel and 11 other nations withdrew from a meeting of UNESCO because of a dispute over Zionism.

Thought for today: Better to do a good deed near at home than to go far away to burn incense. - A Chinese proverb.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, the State Constitutional Convention in Halifax, N.C., completed work on a state constitution.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

New and exciting drugs are being studied in laboratories all over the world. Many of them are still in experimental phases. Others are being supported with new evidence and are being critically evaluated by the Federal Drug Administration.

When all safety factors have been established and side effects understood, doctors everywhere will include them in their therapy kit.

A drug, minoxidil, holds great promise for the treatment of severely high blood pressure that has not responded to any of the other available forms of treatment.

Another drug, bethanidine, is also being studied because of its capacity to rapidly decrease blood pressure.

A drug, carbenoxolone, which is derived from licorice, seems to have a tendency to help in the healing of stomach ulcers.

Prostaglandins, often mentioned in these columns, are being studied for their effect on asthma, ulcers, high blood pressure and a variety of other medical conditions.

The BCG vaccine, once thought to be important in the cure of tuberculosis, now seems to play some role in protection against cancer.

A whole array of drugs for the treatment of arthritis is under intensive study.

Special chemicals, one in particular, cheno-de-oxy-cholic, seem to hold great promise with their capacity to prevent, and even dissolve, gallstones. Should this come to be accepted, surgery for gallbladder disease may be reduced to a minimum.

Special drugs are now being tried to increase fertility in women. Impotence in men, too, is the target of other studies. Brom-ergocryptine is receiving a great deal of attention in scientific studies.

A variety of processes are now making all kinds of soft, softer and softest contact lenses which can be safely kept in the eyes for long periods of time. In fact, there are some manufacturers who feel that before long, contact lenses, once put in, may never need to be removed.

Irregularities of the heart that cannot be controlled by the drugs presently available may soon be helped by a drug, verapamil. It has been suggested that the drug may also be of value in the treatment of anginal pain of the heart.

These are but a few of the exciting drugs that are on the horizon, waiting for definitive proof of their value before being released to the general public.

The Circleville LaSertoma Club recently held its second annual Children's Secret Santa Gift Shop.

This project was a huge success for the club. We would like to thank all who made this event a success. A special thanks to Harold Hewitt for his time and cooperation when we took over the YMCA for this project.

The club realized that people were inconvenienced and had to wait some length of time while their children shopped. Steps will be taken next year to remedy the situation. The turnout of young people was so outstanding we did not anticipate that many shoppers.

This project was carried out by twelve active members who each made 50 or more items to sell. The "mighty 12" spent many hours making this a success.

LaSertoma is the wives auxiliary to the Sertoma Club. The name means Service to Mankind. LaSertoma is a community minded organization.

All proceeds from the gift shop go to the club's community sponsorships which are the speech and hearing clinic, well child clinic, YMCA building fund, a local nursing home and other community projects we are asked to aid.

Easter Seal Society Discussed Basketball Game

Mrs. Robert Daub, president of the Pickaway County Easter Seal Society, was in charge of the December meeting held at Society Headquarters, 216½ S. Court St.

Reports were presented by Mrs. Eugene Siniff and Mrs. Richard Warren. The direct services report noted the following: two wheelchairs, two quad canes, one pair crutches, one walker, one hospital mattress and medication for two clients.

Plans for the Donkey Basketball Game, scheduled for Jan. 22, were discussed.

It was noted that committees for the 1977 Easter Seal Campaign will be appointed at the January meeting.

Christmas Tea Held By League

Child Conservation League of Circleville held its annual Christmas Tea recently at the home of Mrs. Robert McCoy, 382 Meadow Lane. Members and guests enjoyed Christmas cookies with tea and coffee during the social hour.

Members of the committee in charge of the tea included Mrs. George Hritz, chairman; Mrs. Richard Moore, Mrs. Donald Hill and Mrs. Frank Estes. The New Life Singers of Community United Methodist Church provided the program of Christmas music.

Members and guests in attendance included: Mrs. T. D. Van Camp, Mrs. George Haney, Mrs. George Bowling, Mrs. Charles Harden, Mrs. Richard Gerhardt, Mrs. Paul Teegardin, Mrs. William Davies, Mrs. Roderick Allen, Mrs. Roy Huffer, Mrs. Fritz Jacobs, Mrs. Carlos Alvarez, Mrs. Jerry Leist.

Christmas Luncheon Held By Busy Bees

Roundtown Busy Bees Homemakers Extension Club held its annual Christmas Luncheon at the Colony House on Tuesday with 18 members and one guest present.

Mrs. John Downs welcomed the ladies and thanked members for making the Christmas program and bazaar a success. Suggestions on workshops and programs for the new year were discussed.

The Extension Cord, homemaker newsletter published by Dee Dawson a member of The Brunch Bunch Homemaker Club, were distributed.

A discussion pertaining to sunshine gifts for the new year was conducted. Cards were sent to members, Mrs. Fred Fissell and Mrs. Darrell Hatfield. The birthday of Mrs. Charles Walters was recognized.

Members present were: Mrs. John Evans, Mrs. Donald Rose, Mrs. Walter Arledge, Mrs. Noble Barr, Mrs. Kirk Cupp, Mrs. Kucel Eitel, Mrs. Hillis Hall, Mrs. Eugene Hanson, Mrs. C. P. Heiskell, Mrs. Adella Huffman, Mrs. V.D. Kerns, Mrs. Lloyd Kittle, Miss Maggie Mavis, Mrs. Jud Poling, Mrs. John Smith, Miss Mildred Turner, Mrs. Walters, Mrs. Downs, and one guest, Mrs. George Fissell.

The next meeting will be held 1 p.m., Jan. 11, in the home of Mrs. Lloyd Kittle, 566 Oakland Terrace, with Maggie Mavis as co-hostess.

Museum Plans Open House

Open House at Pickaway County Museum will be held 2-4 and 7-9 p.m., Dec. 28. The Clarke-May House where the museum is located will be decorated for the event by several garden clubs of Pickaway County with seasonal arrangements.

Garden clubs participating in the project are: Circleville, Deercreek, Derby, Gardenwood, Logan Elm, Pickaway and Soliqua.

On display in the museum office is the bicentennial donation of early office equipment by Roundtown Chapter of National Secretaries Assn. to the Historical Society.

Dountz, Mrs. Bill Heiskell, Mrs. Fred Gearhart, Mrs. Sam Wilson, Mrs. David Fraser and Mrs. Terry Anderson.

LUCKY NUMBER — Mrs. O. C. West, on the left, drew the winning ticket for a handmade quilt she donated to Friends of the Library to raise funds for projects of the organization. Miss Eleanor Craig looks on as the name of Mrs. Shirley Moore, a resident of Norwalk, was picked on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Paul Teegardin was chairman of the ticket sale and Mrs. Richard Simkins is general chairman of the projects committee. The quilt was made by Mrs. Elizabeth Lutz Dumm, mother of Mrs. West, about 50 years ago. The unusually decorated Christmas tree, which served as a background for the drawing was provided by the Friends of the Library. The hand-crafted ornaments, made by school children, ranged from those made of wood, nut shells and other natural materials, to bows of ribbon and other conventional types.

Valarie Minor League Speaker

Mrs. Valarie Minor was guest speaker for the recent meeting of Child Development League in the home of Mrs. Gene Yurko, 320 Edwards Road. Carol Rooney presided at the business session. Fifteen members answered roll call with a can of food and a white elephant.

Mrs. Minor, for the American Cancer Society, showed a film entitled "Something Very Special." The American Cancer Society will soon have available at the Public Library two books about cancer. They are "Living With Cancer" by Dr. Ernest Rosenbloom and "Make Today Count" by Orville Kelly.

A game of crazy bingo was played for the white elephant gifts. Co-hostesses, Marsha Kowalski, Georganne Butler and Bonnie Scheible, served a buffet dessert.

The Jan. 4 meeting will be held in the basement of St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

LUCKY NUMBER — Mrs. O. C. West, on the left, drew the winning ticket for a handmade quilt she donated to Friends of the Library to raise funds for projects of the organization. Miss Eleanor Craig looks on as the name of Mrs. Shirley Moore, a resident of Norwalk, was picked on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Paul Teegardin was chairman of the ticket sale and Mrs. Richard Simkins is general chairman of the projects committee. The quilt was made by Mrs. Elizabeth Lutz Dumm, mother of Mrs. West, about 50 years ago. The unusually decorated Christmas tree, which served as a background for the drawing was provided by the Friends of the Library. The hand-crafted ornaments, made by school children, ranged from those made of wood, nut shells and other natural materials, to bows of ribbon and other conventional types.

Valarie Minor League Speaker

Mrs. Valarie Minor was guest speaker for the recent meeting of Child Development League in the home of Mrs. Gene Yurko, 320 Edwards Road. Carol Rooney presided at the business session. Fifteen members answered roll call with a can of food and a white elephant.

Mrs. Minor, for the American Cancer Society, showed a film entitled "Something Very Special." The American Cancer Society will soon have available at the Public Library two books about cancer. They are "Living With Cancer" by Dr. Ernest Rosenbloom and "Make Today County" by Orville Kelly.

A game of crazy bingo was played for the white elephant gifts. Co-hostesses, Marsha Kowalski, Georganne Butler and Bonnie Scheible, served a buffet dessert.

The Jan. 4 meeting will be held in the basement of St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

Water Shortage At Blanchester

BLANCHESTER, Ohio (AP) — Blanchester, Ohio, Mayor Madelyn Loftin announced Friday that water pressure will be reduced Jan. 1 and residents asked to begin conservation because of dwindling reservoir supplies.

The mayor said the village has only a 45 day supply of water because of dry weather conditions in November.

She said a number of businesses will be affected, including the Blanchester Foundry, which will close when pressure is reduced. Fifty-five workers will be furloughed, she said.

Other industries which will be effected in varying degrees include Consolidated Ceramics, Vulcan Corp. and Cincinnati Milacron.

Driver Turns In Marijuana Cache

PHILADELPHIA, Ohio (AP) — James R. Locander was driving with his 16-year-old daughter to visit friends in Canton when he decided to stop at Municipal Court here.

There, court employees say, he brought in 45 pounds of marijuana.

Court workers aren't sure why Locander made the abrupt stop, but he was held in Tuscarawas County jail while police investigated on Thursday.

Locander, 37, told court clerks that he bought the marijuana, with a street value of $8,000, in Mexico. He lives in Brownsville, Tex., and formerly resided in Canton.

Relatives picked up his daughter and brought her to Canton.

Cadillacs, GM Vans Recalled

DETROIT (AP) — More than 100,000 1977-model General Motors Cadillacs and vans are being recalled because of potentially dangerous manufacturing defects.

GM announced Friday it was recalling some 76,000 1977 Cadillacs and about 28,000 1977 GMC and Chevrolet G-vans.

The Cadillacs have defective cruise control systems, the company said, which could result in their speeding up unexpectedly "any time the engine is running except when the brake pedal is applied."

Dealers have been ordered to disconnect the cruise control systems until corrections can be made. GM also advised owners not to use the cruise control, and to immediately stop their cars and call a dealer for assistance if the unit malfunctions.

The van recall involves right front brake assemblies which the company said could be out of their proper position. The defect may cause the brakes to wear out after continued rubbing against a steering relay rod.

Should that happen, a spokesman said, the right front brake might fail. Although rear brakes would still work, it would take a greater than normal distance for the vehicles to stop.

Spokesmen said the company has had no reports of accidents due to either defect.

This week, a GM spokesman denied federal safety officials claims that two thirds of the 52 million car and truck recalls industrywide in the past 10 years could be blamed on design flaws.

The director of the Office of Defects Investigation for the National Highway Transportation Safety Administration' Andrew Deatrick, said his agency had "isolated the causes (of recalls) into two areas, design and quality control."

Tigers Drop League Tilt To Indians 59-56

By TOM SPRING
Herald Staff Writer

The Hillsboro Indians, who have lost three games by five or fewer points, got themselves into another tight contest Friday night, but this time, they had something to smile about.

Hillsboro's two senior forwards, Gary Coffman and Tim Fuller, took turns taking passes in the lane and laying them up in the basket as they led the Indians to a 59-56 win over visiting Circleville.

NET WORTH— Rusty Holbrook (31) sends a shot toward the net as he goes for two more points for the Circleville Tigers. His teammates, Eric Pontious (35), Brent Wright (55) and Frank Merrill (23) all move

The cellar-dwelling Indians showed some of the potential that they displayed last year and continued the tradition of tough home court competition that they always seem to give the Tigers through the years.

From the opening tip, it looked as if Hillsboro might runaway with the game as they chalked up 10 points in four minutes and forced the local lads to shoot from the outside. Tim Milstead had taken an inbounds pass from underneath the bucket and made a goal, but three minutes later, it was Hillsboro on top 10-2.

Tim Fuller scored 10 of his teams 16 first period points, most of them coming in the lane on passes from the guards.

All Tiger starters put in points to offset the Indians but could only manage 11.

Fuller added seven more in the second frame, but Circleville's senior guard Frank Merrill and junior Toren

Bensonhaver began to find the range to narrow the gap to two, and Brent Wright's shot from 20 feet out made the score 25-all at 1:12 left in the half.

At this point, Tiger coach Jim Bailey sent in Rusty Holbrook and Roy "Huffy" Huffer with a zone that stalled the Indian attack for a minute and forced a turnover. Bensonhaver's shot at 0:11 sent the Tigers into the locker room with a one-point, 27-26 lead.

Tiger Reserves Win 49-38

Circleville Tiger coach Denny Stewart's reserve squad came up with a convincing 49-38 win over the Indians Friday at Hillsboro.

The little Tigers broke things open early with a 7-2 lead after one frame, widened it to 22-14 at the half, and then held a 40-23 third frame edge before winning 49-38.

Donald Hill led the winners with four goals and four charity tosses for 12 points. Brian Sealock hit for 10 and Richard Elsea hooped 11. Peter Harrison swished the cords for eight markers, Carey Dean lit the scoreboard four times while Pat Poorman and Jeff Strawser each scored two points.

Jeff Banks of the Indians took scoring honors with five goals and five free throws for 15 points. Gilliland netted 11, Phil Cole and Mark McKenzie each hooped four, McConnaughey and Robin Gossett both canned two.

The league-leading reserve squad will play at Teays Valley Dec. 28.

TV Girls Drop First Cage Contest

A cold-shooting first quarter paved the way for the first defeat of the year for the Teays Valley Vikings at West Jefferson Thursday night.

The Roughriders won the contest 44-38 and opened a one-game lead in the Metro title chase. The Vikes dropped to 3-1.

Teays Valley failed to hit a shot from the floor in the first quarter, trailing 10-1 at the break. "We were too tight," said Coach Angie Rinehart, "and when we fell behind, we couldn't get into our pressing game."

West Jefferson opened a 22-11 lead at the half, but the Vikings closed the gap to 38-25 after three periods.

Perri Martin scored 11 points and grabbed 12 rebounds to pace the Vikings. Debbie Baxter scored 10 points, Rita Slone had nine, and Suzy Jones netted six points with 10 rebounds.

Baxter and Slone led TV in assists with three each, and as a team Teays Valley made 16 steals.

The Viking reserves dropped their third game in four starts, even though they led West Jefferson most of the way in the preliminary contest.

TV led 4-2 after the first period and 8-2 at the half before the Roughriders tied the contest 12-all in the third period enroute to the 20-18 win.

Patricia Stiles scored six points for the Vikings, and Erika Stewart and Kelly Martin had five each.

Loraine Hill picked off eight rebounds, and Nancy Kraft had five rebounds and three assists.

The Vikings made 17 steals in the contest.

Both teams will remain idle over the long Christmas break, returning to action Jan. 4 when they host Circleville.

Only turnovers and missed shots late in the quarter kept Circleville from increasing that lead, but they did manage to make some headway briefly in the third frame.

Circleville went back to its man-to-man defense in the quarter and with Bensonhaver, Merrill, Wright, Milstead and Tom Taylor taking turns lighting the scoreboard, they increased the lead to five at the five minute mark and held it until the Indians tallied three late in the frame to finish the period with a two-point Tiger edge 41-39.

It was nip and tuck throughout most of the last period but Gary Coffman turned the game around again when he took a rebound off a free throw attempt and made it add up to a 50-49 lead, their first since the second canto.

Coffman and Fuller sealed the win when they each threw in a bucket from the lane and then began a stall that forced the Tigers to foul to get the ball back. Five free throws later the buzzer sounded a 59-56 Tiger loss.

Fuller led all players in scoring with 10 goals and four charity tosses for 24 points.

Gary Coffman hit double figures with 17 points. Laimier hit eight, Randy Sanders and Tyler Woods scored four apiece and Tim Sharkey added two.

Frank Merrill led the Tigers with eight field goals and 16 points. Toren Bensonhaver and Brent Wright made double figures with 14 and 12 points respectively. Tom Taylor and Tim Milstead each ripped the cords for six markers and Eric Pontious hooped two.

The Indians hooped 24 of 43 shots from the field for 55 per cent and 11 of 16 free throw attempts for 69 per cent.

The Tigers meanwhile had to depend on their field goal shooting. They made 27 of 58 for 46.5 per cent and two of three charity stripe tosses.

Circleville's one competitive edge came in rebounds. Circleville won that statistic 30-20. Both teams committed 20 turnovers.

Tiger coach Jim Bailey commented, "Hillsboro's offense was better than our defense. They got the ball inside. We had too many turnovers."

Circleville is 2-2 in South Central Ohio League action and 4-2 overall. The Tigers will visit Teays Valley Dec. 28.

Teays Valley Loses To Roughriders

After battling on near even terms for the first two periods, Teays Valley succumbed to a hot second half shooting performance by West Jefferson as the Vikings dropped a 68-54 to the visiting Roughriders Friday night.

The Vikings battled the Roughriders through the first canto and held a 9-8 advantage at the end of the period.

The second quarter was a nip and tuck affair with both teams trading baskets but the Roughriders finally broke into a 28-25 lead at halftime.

It was the final two cantos that proved the undoing of the Vikings as the Roughriders suddenly found the range and hit at a 50 per cent clip from the floor during the half.

West Jeff pulled out into a 48-39 edge at the third period buzzer and opened the gap to 68-54 as the final buzzer sounded.

Tim Tosca led the Vikings with nine from the floor and one from the charity stripe for 19 points, Terry Trego and Mike Fisher both netted 10, Rick Queen hooped nine, Ronnie Little added three, Jeff Voss hit two and Charlie Morrison had one.

Osborne paced West Jefferson and all the scorers with 12 from the hardwood and four from the charity stripe for a total of 28 points, Shipley added 11, Gallas netted 10, Castle hooped eight, Baker and Thompson each hit four and Pfeil had three.

Teays Valley was 23 of 70 from the floor for 36 per cent and connected on eight of 18 from the charity stripe for 44 per cent.

West Jefferson hit 27 of 59 from the floor for 46 per cent and converted 14 of 30 for 47 per cent at the free throw line.

The Roughriders won the battle of the boards as they hauled down 45 missed shots while the Vikings were grabbing 32. Don Osborne led West Jeff and was tops in the game with 19 rebounds while Rick Queen grabbed nine for the Vikings.

West Jefferson had 26 turnovers in the game while the Vikings only misplayed the ball 16 times.

The Roughriders made it a clean sweep as their reserves topped Teays Valley 39-26.

Teays Valley is now 1-5 for the season and 1-4 in Metropolitan League play and will host Circleville Dec. 28. West Jefferson ran its season mark to

2-3 and 1-3 in league play.

Braves Nip Canal Winchester In Double Overtime, 62-59

Logan Elm edged Canal Winchester in a thrilling double overtime, 62-59, on a foul shot by Randy Pontious with three seconds to play and a tip in by Chuck Cave at the buzzer Friday in Spangler Gymnasium.

The visiting Indians overcame a ten point third quarter deficit and a 5-point margin in the final 24 seconds of regulation play to tie the game at 53-53 and the first overtime. And they came from behind in the final 17 seconds of the overtime on a pair of foul shots by Neal Seymour to deadlock the score at 57-57, forcing the second overtime.

The score was tied at 59-59 when Pontious was fouled with three seconds on the clock. After a timeout, the LE senior forward sank the pressure packed-fist attempt of the one and one situation. His second attempt bounced high off the rim into the hands of Cave who put it back through the hoop for the clincher just as the buzzer sounded.

An irate Canal Winchester fan bounded onto the floor and headed for the referee at the end of the game, and for a few moments pandemonium reigned at one end of the floor. But Pickaway County Sheriff Deputies and cooler heads soon had the altercation under control.

The victory gives the Braves a 4-1 overall record and a 3-0 mark in the Mid State League.

"Wow! Who won?" was LE coach Butch Kobel's first reaction after the game.

"He does a super job," Kobel said of Canal Winchester's Dan Brisker. "He has a young ball club and he gets a lot out of them."

"That zone defense had us baffled for a while. He made some changes in his defense that had us stretching our passes on the wing. He was taking away the perimeter from us. Most of the zones we have seen so far this year gave us those passes."

"We just had to be very patient. When we weren't, we didn't get a good shot. But we were able to maintain good team play and that was the difference. Against a zone, you have to be patient and team conscious," he said.

Canal Winchester's Neal Seymour was the game's leading scorer with 25 points coming on nine field goals and seven charity tosses.

In the scoring column, the Braves again showed balance with four in double figures. Senior center Chuck Cave led the way sinking nine of 16 field goals and adding three points at the charity stripe for a total of 21.

Mark Skinner made four of nine shots from the field and two at the foul line for 10, Terry Wright made five of ten field goal attempts for 10 points and Jeff Collins made five of nine field goal tries for 10 points.

Jerry Scanlan came off the bench in relief of Wright and made two quick baskets for four points. Doug Woods played most of the second quarter replacing Cave who had three fouls early in the game and made two points.

Cave was the leading rebounder for the Braves with 11. Collins grabbed five missed shots, Wright and Pontious four each and Skinner three.

The Braves outrebounded the visitors, 30-22. Logan Elm made six of 13 attempts at the foul line.

NOT THIS TIME — Chuck Cave soars through a trio of Canal Winchester cagers only to have his shot blocked by Gary Kiser (25) of the Indians. Cave paced LE with 21 points while Neal Seymour (33) was the game's leading scorer with 25 markers. The Braves won in double overtime.

For Canal Winchester, only four players scored, all in double figures. Randy Hicks and Gary Kiser notched 12 each and Jerry Toberen 10. The Indians made 23 of 52 field goal attempts and were 13 of 16 at the foul line.

The Braves jumped out to an 18-10 first quarter lead, scoring ten unanswered points during one stretch. But with Cave on the bench almost the entire second period, the Indians pulled back within four, 26-22 at halftime.

The Braves stretched the lead to 10 again in the third quarter, with a 44-34 edge.

In the fourth quarter, the Indians kept battling back, but could get no closer than four points until the final seconds.

Skinner gave LE a seemingly safe five point lead with 24 seconds to go. But Jerry Toberens narrowed the lead to three and then Seymour stole the ball and deadlocked the game on a three-point play.

In the first overtime the Indians were on the scoreboard first but the Braves went ahead 57-55 with a little less than two minutes to go. Seymour again did the damage as he tied the score on a pair of foul shots with 17 seconds remaining. Seymour scored Canal Winchester's only two points in the second overtime while Cave scored four of LE's five.

The little Braves put together a good game, easily taking the reserve tilt by a 50-33 score. Tom Congrove and Mark Vanover teamed up to score 14 each, Dan Hill tallied 10, Brian Hannigan eight and Jeff Davis and Ray Moats two each for the reserves. The Indians were led by Tony Vangundy with eight and Jerry Wildermuth with seven.

The next game for the Braves is against Westfall Tuesday.

Tigers Drop League Tilt To Indians 59-56

By TOM SPRING
Herald Staff Writer

The Hillsboro Indians, who have lost three games by five or fewer points, got themselves into another tight contest Friday night, but this time, they had something to smile about.

Hillsboro's two senior forwards, Gary Coffman and Tim Fuller, took turns taking passes in the lane and laying them up in the basket as they led the Indians to a 59-56 win over visiting Circleville.

The cellar-dwelling Indians showed some of the potential that they displayed last year and continued the tradition of tough home court competition that they always seem to give the Tigers through the years.

From the opening tip, it looked as if Hillsboro might runaway with the game as they chalked up 10 points in four minutes and forced the local lads to shoot from the outside. Tim Milstead had taken an inbounds pass from underneath the bucket and made a goal, but three minutes later, it was Hillsboro on top 10-2.

Tim Fuller scored 10 of his team's 16 first period points, most of them coming in the lane on passes from the guards.

All Tiger starters put in points to offset the Indians but could only manage 11.

Fuller added seven more in the second frame, but Circleville's senior guard Frank Merrill and junior Toren

Bensonhaver began to find the range to narrow the gap to two, and Brent Wright's shot from 20 feet out made the score 25-11 at 1:12 left in the half.

At this point, Tiger coach Jim Bailey sent in Rusty Holbrook and Roy "Huffy" Huffer with a zone that stalled the Indian attack for a minute and forced a turnover. Bensonhaver's shot at 0:11 sent the Tigers into the locker room with a one-point, 27-26 lead.

Only turnovers and missed shots late in the quarter kept Circleville from increasing that lead, but they did manage to make some headway briefly in the third frame.

Circleville went back to its man-to-man defense in the quarter and with Bensonhaver, Merrill, Wright, Milstead and Tom Taylor taking turns lighting the scoreboard, they increased the lead to five at the five minute mark and held it until the Indians tallied three late in the frame to finish the period with a two-point Tiger edge 41-39.

Gary Coffman hit double figures with 17 points. Laimier hit eight, Randy Sanders and Tyler Woods scored four apiece and Tim Sharkey added two.

Frank Merrill led the Tigers with eight field goals and 16 points. Toren Bensonhaver and Brent Wright made double figures with 14 and 12 points respectively. Tom Taylor and Tim

Milstead each ripped the cords for six markers and Eric Pontious hooped two.

The Indians hooped 24 of 43 shots from the field for 55 per cent and 11 of 16 free throw attempts for 69 per cent.

The Tigers meanwhile had to depend on their field goal shooting. They made 27 of 58 for 46.5 per cent and two of three charity stripe tosses.

Circleville's one competitive edge came in rebounds. Circleville won that statistic 30-20. Both teams committed 20 turnovers.

Tiger Reserves Win 49-38

Circleville Tiger coach Denny Stewart's reserve squad came up with a convincing 49-38 win over the Indians Friday at Hillsboro.

The little Tigers broke things open early with a 7-2 lead after one frame, widened it to 22-14 at the half, and then held a 40-23 third frame edge before winning 49-38.

Donald Hill led the winners with four goals and four charity tosses for 12 points. Brian Sealock hit for 10 and Richard Elsea hooped 11. Peter Harrison swished the cords for eight markers, Carey Dean lit the scoreboard four times while Pat Poorman and Jeff Strawser each scored two points.

Jeff Banks of the Indians took scoring honors with five goals and five free throws for 15 points. Gilliland netted 11, Phil Cole and Mark McKenzie each hooped four, McConaughy and Robin Gossett both canned two.

The league-leading reserve squad will play at Teays Valley Dec. 28.

Osborne paced West Jefferson and all the scorers with 12 from the hardwood and four from the charity stripe for a total of 28 points. Shipley added 11, Gallas netted 10, Castle hooped eight, Baker and Thompson each hit four and Pfeil had three.

Teays Valley was 23 of 70 from the floor for 36 per cent and connected on eight of 18 from the charity stripe for 44 per cent.

West Jefferson hit 27 of 59 from the floor for 46 per cent and converted 14 of 30 for 47 per cent at the free throw line.

The Roughriders won the battle of the boards as they hauled down 45 missed shots while the Vikings were grabbing 32. Don Osborne led West Jeff and was tops in the game with 19 rebounds while Rick Queen grabbed nine for the Vikings.

West Jefferson had 26 turnovers in the game while the Vikings only misplayed the ball 16 times.

The Roughriders made it a clean sweep as their reserves topped Teays Valley 39-26.

Teays Valley is now 1-5 for the season and 1-4 in Metropolitan League play and will host Circleville Dec. 28. West Jefferson ran its season mark to

2-3 and 1-3 in league play.

Last Second Shot Beats Mustangs

LET IT FLY — Westfall's Bruce Starkey (23) lets the ball fly from outside in first quarter action of the Westfall gym Friday night. Moving inside for a rebound is Tom Adams (13), while Steve Trainer (25) and Don Berling (35) watch the action. Trying to block the shot is Mark Fawley (33). The Mustangs lost the tilt when Flaget hit a 25 footer with two seconds left in the game.

By CRAIG ALLISON
Herald Sports Writer

The Westfall Mustangs fought a tough, hard, close contest against the Panthers from Bishop Flaget Friday night, but in the last two seconds of the game, fate turned its back on the Westfall five, as the Panther's Steve Dawes hit a 25 foot shot from the corner to give the Flaget squad a one point victory.

The local cagers played a fine ballgame overall, and at the end the Ross County quintet knew they had been in a real cage battle.

Westfall Head Coach Mike Eckle commented, "We deserved to win as much as they did. We played pretty well, but we did make some mistakes. You really can't say anything after something like that."

Westfall jumped off to a quick 4-0 lead, and managed to stay in front for most of the first stanza, but as the buzzer rang at the end of the period, Bishop Flaget was up by two markers. A nip and tuck second quarter sent the teams into the locker rooms at the intermission knotted in a 33-33 tie.

The fourth quarter may have been the one that did in the Mustangs, as the Panthers hit a very healthy 66 per cent of their shots in the final eight minutes. Westfall had a respectable 43 per cent rate of success for the entire contest.

The Mustangs were forced into 19 turnovers during the game, while the Panthers were right behind with 18.

Westfall led in the rebound department, with 34 snares for the night's work. Leading the locals was Eric Schleich with eight, Larry Bilek had six, and Bruce Starkey and Larry List each had five. The Panthers finished with 31 rebounds, and Steve Trainer led the winning cause with nine.

In the reserve contest, Westfall dropped a 44-34 decision.

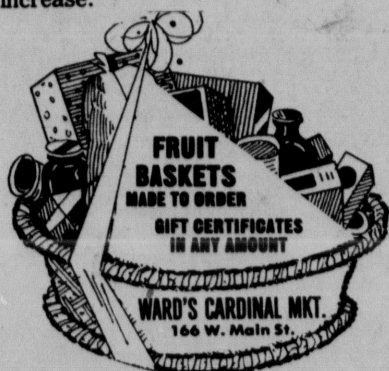

The Mustangs face another tough opponent tonight when they travel to Ross County to take on the Pioneers of Zane Trace. Next Tuesday the Mustangs take to the road again, this time across the county to Logan Elm High School in one of the annual highlights of the county basketball season.

Hike Ticket Prices

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Bengals fans will be paying $1 more for their tickets next season.

The majority of tickets, in Riverfront Stadium, which were priced at $8.25, will sell for $9.25. The $9.25 seats will now sell for $10.25 and $11.25 seats will go for $12.25.

A club spokesman cited increased operation costs as the reason for the increase.

Kempton Named Media Relations Head For Taft

Taft Broadcasting Company announced today that David L. Kempton has been named Director of Media Relations for the National Collegiate Football Hall of Fame, the Ohio Kings Island Open PGA Tour Tournament and the Western Tennis Championships.

The National Collegiate Football Hall of Fame will be located at Taft's Kings Island Family Entertainment Center and will open in April of 1978. It is owned by the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame, Inc., and will be constructed and managed by Taft.

The Hall of Fame will be an educational center designed to inform young Americans about the principles of football, honor the great players and coaches and provide a history of the game.

The OKIO and Western Tennis events are co-sponsored by Taft and the Cincinnati Enquirer. The OKIO, held annually at the Jack Nicklaus Golf Center at Kings Island, benefits the "Neediest Kids of All." The Western Tennis Championships, held at the Old Coney Swimming and Tennis Club, benefit the Children's Hospital Medical Center.

Kempton, 34, a native of Athens, Ohio, returned to the OKIO in June of 1976 after working with the Tournament Players Division of the PGA Tour as Assistant Public Information Director.

Prior to joining the PGA Tour, Kempton worked in the marketing department at Kings Island and was Assistant Sports Information Director at the University of Notre Dame and Ohio University.

Dayton Gems Lose To Columbus Owls

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Dayton Gems were bumped from first place in the International Hockey League's South Division when third-place Columbus blitzed them 6-2 Friday night.

In other IHL games Friday, North Division leader Kalamazoo downed Saginaw 7-3, Muskegon swamped Fort Wayne 8-2 and Toledo overpowered Flint 5-2.

Islanders Beat Flames

By The Associated Press

Yes, Virginia, there really is a Billy Smith.

Unfortunately, the New York Islanders' fans have this thing about Smith...and Smith has this thing about the team's home rink, the Nassau County Coliseum, so he rarely plays before the home folks.

"Sometimes I seem to play better on the road than at home," Smith said after turning aside 33 of 35 shots in the Islanders' 4-2 National Hockey League victory over the Atlanta Flames.

Defenseman Denis Potvin provided the offensive firepower with one goal and two assists as the Islanders, unbeaten in six contests with five victories and a tie, increased their Patrick Division lead to three points over the idle Philadelphia Flyers. Third-place Atlanta, suffering its second consecutive loss, fell seven points back.

In the only other NHL game, the Washington Capitals nipped the Toronto Maple Leafs 3-2.

In World Hockey Association action, the Birmingham Bulls ended the Houston Aeros' 16-game home unbeaten streak 4-3, the Indianapolis Racers edged the New England Whalers 5-4 in overtime and the Edmonton Oilers blanked the Phoenix Roadrunners 1-0.

and ran away from the Falcons in the Kentucky Invitational basketball tournament.

"We got beat by a great ballclub," said Bowling Green Coach John Weinert after a 77-59 loss to the nation's third-ranked team Friday night. "The suspension of the three Kentucky players probably hurt us because they beat us with quickness and finesse."

Phillips, the Wildcats' starting center who provides Kentucky with a powerful inside game, and Shidler—a starting guard—were suspended along with Claytor earlier this week for disciplinary reasons.

Utah, which defeated West Virginia 74-70 in another first-round game, won't be as easy a touch for Kentucky, according to Hall.

In other tournament action Friday night, 20th-ranked St. John's defeated SMU 87-71 and Tennessee trimmed La Salle 92-85 in opening-round games of the Volunteer Classic in Knoxville; Memphis State beat Penn State 77-69 and Florida downed Florida State 70-53 in the Big Sun tourney in St. Petersburg, Fla.; Alabama stopped Oklahoma State 70-61 and Virginia Tech nipped Dayton 76-75 in the Dayton Invitational and Toledo turned back Eastern Kentucky 78-62 and Mississippi tripped Marshall 65-63 in the BladeGlass City Classic in Toledo, Ohio.

Also, Houston outscored Nevada-Reno 100-78 and California-Santa Barbara turned back Texas A&M 69-61 in the Bluebonnet Classic in Houston; Texas-El Paso edged Baylor 70-64 and Missouri beat Southern Cal 87-77 in the Sun Bowl Classic at El Paso, Tex.; Florida State defeated Santa Clara 94-80 and No. 5 San Francisco hammered Pacific 90-73 in the Cable Car Classic in San Francisco and South Alabama nipped New Mexico State 85-83 and Army defeated Samford 67-60 in the Birmingham Classic. In non-tournament games, No. 9 UCLA walloped Rice 107-60; No. 12 Nevada-Las Vegas whipped North Dakota State 112-81 and No. 16 Indiana beat DePaul 50-42.

With Phillips and Shidler out of the lineup, Jack Givens took the Kentucky scoring load on his shoulders, pouring in 28 points. Jeff Judkins scored 29 points to pace Utah over West Virginia.

Glen Williams and George Johnson each scored 23 points to lead St. John's over SMU in the Volunteer Classic. A 31-point performance by Bernard King led Tennessee over La Salle in the other first-round game.

Charlie Finley Suit Attacks Bowie Kuhn

CHICAGO (AP) — Charles O. Finley's lawyers are angling for the best shot and their target is Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn. As ammunition, they are using baseball history, economics and a union negotiator.

Instead of sitting at a bargaining table opposite him, the lawyer for the Major League Players' Association took the stand Friday in support of the maverick Oakland A's owner. Meanwhile, the judge in Finley's $3.5 million suit, termed the two-day-old proceedings "a strange trial."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

CRYPTOQUOTES

DEW NFVVOW WZJD FJ Z PW.

SFXQ AEWPW XFO FJ DEFRLWP

DEZQ YOXXV. - MZWNJ EXOOZQV

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: WE ARE BORN BELIEVING. A MAN BEARS BELIEFS, AS A TREE BEARS APPLES. - RALPH WALDO EMERSON

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

FOR SUNDAY

ARIES (May 21 to Apr. 20): Your perception especially sharp now. In all matters, depend on your own judgment, not that of others.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): A fine day for achievement; also for making new contracts. You may even have an opportunity to cash in on an avocational skill.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Your judgment still somewhat "off." Forget your most ambitious plans for the moment and concentrate on routine.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Some planetary restrictions. Don't depend on the promises of others and don't make any binding agreements yourself.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): A day of surprises! A favor you recently bestowed is amply repaid and, in job matters, something of importance is decided in your favor.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Stay in the groove. Don't take anything for granted even though all seems well. Investigate all situations thoroughly.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Be certain of what is expected of you. Don't go off "half-cocked" on assignments, relying on guesswork or hoping for miracles. Protect properties.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): You may get a lot of off-beat ideas. Put them right out of your head. Day requires good judgment, level-headedness, self-control.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Good Jupiter influences encourage both routine activities and the launching of new and unusual enterprises. Acquit yourself as the Sagittarian so ably can.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Hold off on making decisions and commitments until you are sure you have all the facts, and do take into consideration the various dispositions and temperaments of those involved in your activities.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Be careful what you read into this day. It has fine potential, but all things must be handled with discretion.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Don't fret if lack of ready cash temporarily delays the launching of a pet project. There's no hurry. In fact, time is definitely on your side.

YOU BORN TODAY are destined for leadership in whatever career you choose, and your choices are many — depending on education and leanings, of course. Extremely versatile, you could excel in large business and (or) financial undertakings, in the law, statesmanship, science (especially medicine) literature or music. Personally, you are endowed with an outstanding love for your fellowmen, a philosophical outlook on life and a dry but delightful wit. You make friends easily and keep them for a lifetime. You are extremely independent and naturally rebellious of restraint, however. Birthdate of Edwin M. Stanton, American jurist, statesman.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

FOR SUNDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Your perception especially sharp now. In all matters, depend on your own judgment, not that of others.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): A fine day for achievement; also for making new contracts. You may even have an opportunity to cash in on an avocational skill.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Your judgment still somewhat "off." Forget your most ambitious plans for the moment and concentrate on routine.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Some planetary restrictions. Don't depend on the promises of others and don't make any binding agreements yourself.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): A day of surprises! A favor you recently bestowed is amply repaid and, in job matters, something of importance is decided in your favor.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Stay in the groove. Don't take anything for granted even though all seems well. Investigate all situations thoroughly.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Be certain of what is expected of you. Don't go off "half-cocked" on assignments, relying on guesswork or hoping for miracles. Protect properties.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): You may get a lot of off-beat ideas. Put them right out of your head. Day requires good judgment, level-headedness, self-control.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Good Jupiter influences encourage both routine activities and the launching of new and unusual enterprises. Acquit yourself as the Sagittarian so ably can.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Hold off on making decisions and commitments until you are sure you have all the facts, and do take into consideration the various dispositions and temperaments of those involved in your activities.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Be careful what you read into this day. It has fine potential, but all things must be handled with discretion.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Don't fret if lack of ready cash temporarily delays the launching of a pet project. There's no hurry. In fact, time is definitely on your side.

YOU BORN TODAY are destined for leadership in whatever career you choose, and your choices are many — depending on education and leanings, of course.

Extremely versatile, you could excel in large business and (or) financial undertakings, in the law, statesmanship, science (especially medicine) literature or music. Personally, you are endowed with an outstanding love for your fellowmen, a philosophical outlook on life and a dry but delightful wit. You make friends easily and keep them for a lifetime. You are extremely independent and naturally rebellious of restraint, however. Birthdate of Edwin M. Stanton, American jurist, statesman.

Energy Guzzlers

NEW YORK (AP) — Spotting the energy guzzlers among home appliances and shifting their use of "off-peak hours" will help reduce the size of future increases in electric bills.

Shifting to off-peak means using appliances in the evening when power consumption is lower and electricity is produced at a utility's most efficient stations — usually fired by coal or nuclear energy, according to the General Public Utilities Corp.

A hot water heater in the home is by all odds the No. 1 energy guzzler. It uses almost four times as much electricity as the next most energy-hungry appliance, the electric oven and range. The clothes dryer is No. 3 in the pecking order of electricity users, followed by the dishwasher and clothes washer.

The pied flycatcher feeds insects to its young up to 33 times an hour, making more than 6,000 trips while the young remain in the nest.

Man Injured When Van Rolls Over

A Route 1, Williamsport, man suffered minor injuries when he lost control of his van on London Road 11:20 p.m. Friday.

Michael E. George was treated at Berger Hospital's emergency room for contusions and abrasions to his right leg following the accident.

Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Terry Frazier said George was driving north on the London Road, about 200 feet south of the Whiteside Road intersection, when he lost control and crashed into a culvert on the right side.

Impact caused the van to spin sideways and skid 52 feet out of control. The van rolled over for 148 feet and came to rest on its wheels 25 feet off the right side of the road. The van continued moving on its wheels 100 feet into a field owned by Daisy Rowland, Route 1, Orient.

Fire did severe damage to the engine of a 1971 Chrysler New Yorker in Ashville 3:45 a.m. Saturday.

Robert A. Cline, 40, Route 2, Orient, told Deputy Sheriff J. Philip Brown that he was driving on Crumley Street when the brakes of his car failed to operate.

He apparently returned to the home of a relative in Ashville to check out the car when the engine burst into flames.

The fire was extinguished by the Harrison Twp. Fire Department.

Passengers in the car were Cline's wife, Etta, and their seven-year-old daughter, Amy.

Auditions Set For 'Oklahoma'

Tryouts for Roundtown Players next production, "Oklahoma," have been scheduled.

Persons may audition Jan. 3 or Jan. 4 at 7:30 p.m. at the Memorial Hall theater.

Production dates are Feb. 23, 24, 25, and 26, and March 2, 3, 4, and 5.

Jim Dipple is director of the production and Marilyn Sprenger is assistant director.

Clara Teegardin is the musical coordinator and Joan Eller is the choreographer.

Vandals Destroy Christmas Lights

Vandals destroyed four strands of Christmas tree lights at the Clark Lake home of George Harber, 11160 Lakeview Drive.

Three strings of lights were taken from a Christmas tree in the front yard of the home, according to a report at the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department, and a fourth was damaged.

Lights from the three strands were apparently broken in the driveway of the home.

Damage is estimated at $28.

Pickaway Juvenile Court Hears 77 Cases In November

In Juvenile Court of Pickaway County for November, 77 cases were terminated and 79 cases were filed for the month. During the month, 36 delinquency cases were tried, 11 unruly, one dependant and neglected, 22 traffic and six adult. One consent was given for marriage and 15 boys and three girls were placed on probation.

Most recently in the courts, a 15-year-old boy charged with theft was given a permanent sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission (OYC) suspended, three years of probation and two weekends of detention. He was also given 50 community work hours.

The case was dismissed for another 15-year-old boy charged with theft because of lack of evidence.

A 14-year-old Circleville boy charged with school truancy was sentenced to the temporary care of the OYC, released to his mother to attend school regularly until admission date.

A 14-year-old girl was granted to the temporary custody of a Circleville woman.

The case was terminated with a 16-year-old girl charged with school truancy. She was released from probation and is now married.

A 15-year-old Mt. Sterling boy charged with breaking and entering was given a suspended sentence to the OYC. Also, he was given three years of probation, ordered not to associate with three persons and given 50 community work hours.

Mark A. O'Dell, 17, Route 4, charged with reckless operation, was given a $5 fine, license suspended for a month with privileges and ordered to attend traffic school.

Daniel A. McNamara, 973 S. Washington St., with an unsafe vehicle charge, was given a $5 fine and ordered to attend traffic school. Timothy W. Welliver, 1341 Maple Drive, charged with reckless operation was given a $5 fine, license suspended for one month with privileges and ordered to attend traffic school.

Robert P. Kelly, Amlin, charged with speeding was given a $5 fine and had his licenses suspended for two weeks with privileges.

A sentence was amended for Charles E. Toole, 16, of 5088 Ashville Road, Ashville. For his license suspension of six months, after drivers training he was given privileges for school, sports, and work. The fine for the charges of no operator's license and an expired registration was $50 with $40 suspended.

The case was dismissed for a 17-year-old boy charged with petty theft. The complaining officer failed to appear.

A 17-year-old boy charged with violation of probation, was given 30 days detention, permanent sentence to the OYC suspended and probation until his 18th birthday and 50 community work hours.

A 17-year-old boy charged with assault was found not guilty and given to the temporary care and custody of a New Holland lady. The case was placed on the inactive file.

Rickey E. Smith, 17, 1120 S. Court St., charged with failure to control his motor vehicle was given a $10 fine and ordered to traffic school.

The case was dismissed for Paul Porter Jr., charged with driving while license is under suspension. The complainant failed to appear.

Four transfers were made by the courts to Ross, Hocking, Fayette and Franklin Counties.

Barney B. Bailes, Amanda, driving with no operator's license was given a $25 fine, license suspended for six months after receiving it or after his 18th birthday.

A 15-year-old boy was held in detention until his admission date to the OYC. He was charged with probation violation.

Man Injured When Van Rolls Over

A Route 1, Williamsport, man suffered minor injuries when he lost control of his van on London Road 11:20 p.m. Friday.

Michael E. George was treated at Berger Hospital's emergency room for contusions and abrasions to his right leg following the accident.

Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Terry Frazier said George was driving north on the London Road, about 200 feet south of the Whiteside Road intersection, when he lost control and crashed into a culvert on the right side.

Impact caused the van to spin sideways and skid 52 feet out of control. The van rolled over for 148 feet and came to rest on its wheels 25 feet off the right side of the road. The van continued moving on its wheels 100 feet into a field owned by Daisy Rowland, Route 1, Orient.

Fire did severe damage to the engine of a 1971 Chrysler New Yorker in Ashville 3:45 a.m. Saturday.

Robert A. Cline, 40, Route 2, Orient, told Deputy Sheriff J. Philip Brown that he was driving on Crumley Street when the brakes of his car failed to operate.

He apparently returned to the home of a relative in Ashville to check out the car when the engine burst into flames.

The fire was extinguished by the Harrison Twp. Fire Department.

Passengers in the car were Cline's wife, Etta, and their seven-year-old daughter, Amy.
